GIRL FROM RECTOR'S MUST BE LADYLIKE

She Can't Show Herself at the Academy Unless Properly Chaperoned.

TO DRINK MILK, NOT WINE

Mayor of Raleigh Forbids Play, But Alderman-Manager Defies Him.

Here's where Leo Wise, of the Academy of Music, gets a well advertised. When it was announced the other day that "The Girl from Rector's" would be the attraction at the Academy Saturday night, Mayor Werner picked up his ears and sniffed the air. Somebody hereabout had whispered that the production reminded him of "The Blue Mouse" and "Charlotte Temple." Meanwhile, the same information had reached the ears of Mayor Richardson, who let it be known some time ago that if the theatres wanted to stay in business they would have to eliminate attractions which were in the least objectionable. Taking the hint by the horns, Mayor Richardson sent Major Werner to notify the Academy management that if "The Girl from Rector's" was a bad actor, so to speak, he would revoke the Academy license. The Mayor was assured that the production would be managed in its desire to keep up the play of the stage, that it had already been agreed that if one objectionable feature was noted Manager Wise had ordered the curtain to be rung down then and there.

"East Lynne" Editor Here. According to one of the advance men, there are three editions of the play, a "Camille" edition, a "Sappho" edition and an "East Lynne" edition, and that out of respect to the Southern communities the "East Lynne" program would be religiously followed in Richmond. Indeed, from all accounts, the latter means that the production is cut to that point where it is stupid.

The authorities were notified yesterday by telegraph that Mayor Wynne, of Raleigh, had ordered Alderman Upchurch, manager of the Raleigh theatre, that "the girl" couldn't make merry in the quiet capital of the Old North State. Alderman-Manager Upchurch immediately posted the notice, with a postscript that the play will be given tonight, no more. Immediately the glided youth of Raleigh rushed down Front Street, making people believe they were fleeing from a case of smallpox, but they stopped at Alderman Upchurch's playhouse. Last night the town was resting on its oars—waiting. No troops had been called out at midnight, but it was said that the manager-alderman was swearing softly because he didn't have a Hippodrome and a few special trains.

To show or not to show. Concerning the situation down there, a special dispatch received by The Times-Dispatch last night said:

"Local Manager J. Sherwood Upchurch, of the Academy of Music, billed to present 'The Girl from Rector's' tomorrow night, posted this evening copies of a letter from Mayor Wynne notifying him that the play must not be presented in Raleigh, and under this the manager gave notice that it would be presented as advertised. The sale of seats has increased greatly since the posting of the notice from the Mayor, with the defiant foot note on the part of Manager Upchurch that the play will be given. It is understood that about all the city authorities can do to suppress it in the midst of the performance if objectionable features warrant such action."

The Mollified Girl. Coming back to the situation here, it was said yesterday that if "The Girl from Rector's" arrives Saturday night she will not shock anybody, that she will be tame and ladylike, and will put as much feeling into the part as if it were "East Lynne" in reality. Manager Wise is determined to keep her away rather than bring down trouble or adverse criticism upon his head, which means that she will feast upon milk and not wine and speak the language of the mollified nation of the language of the Broadway tribe.

DEEP RUN HUNT TO ABANDON SITE

Members Authorize Officers to Accept Terms of New Country Club.

WON'T LOSE INDIVIDUALITY

Organizations Will Enter Into Limited Contract for Next Two Seasons.

At a meeting of the Deep Run Hunt Club, held at the Commonwealth Club last night, the officers of that organization were authorized to accept and execute the contract proposed by the Country Club of Virginia, whereby the Deep Run Hunt Club will hunt its bounds for the next two seasons from the Country Club of Virginia. The special agreement among the clubs is that Deep Run shall maintain its individuality, but it will abandon its present site on April 1, and from that date maintain its kennels and stables on Country Club of Virginia property.

The announcement that an amicable agreement has been arranged will be received with delight by the hundreds of members of both clubs, as it practically means that every feature of Country Club life will be included in the new establishment, which will be ready for occupancy early this spring.

Well Known Everywhere. The Deep Run Hunt is one of the best known fashionable hunting clubs in America, and includes in its membership some of the best sportsmen, club leaders and sporting men in Richmond and Virginia.

Aside from other benefits that may accrue to the Country Club of Virginia, the members of Deep Run, while it remains in its organization, will make its headquarters there, and the result will be practically as if the two organizations are combined in one. The kennels are already in progress of construction at the new site, and under the contract the Deep Run hunters will be cared for at the expense of the recently organized club. The pack is one of the best in the country.

It is understood that the proposition was made to Deep Run some time ago, but not until last night was any definite decision reached. It is said that the action resulted from mature deliberation, in which the best interests of the club was the paramount issue. The property now used by the Deep Run Club is rented from the Ginter estate.

LOCAL VETERANS REMEMBERED

Fitzhugh Lee Camp Wants Congress to Raise Wreck of Battleship.

REQUEST CONGRESS TO ACT

Resolutions Adopted Commemorating Event Which Forced War With Spain.

Fitzhugh Lee Camp, No. 8, Department of Virginia, United Spanish War Veterans, held a special meeting yesterday for the purpose of commemorating the anniversary of the destruction of the battleship Maine, in the harbor of Havana, Cuba, on February 15, 1898. The following resolutions, presented by George N. Skipwith, were unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, it is the desire of Fitzhugh Lee Camp, No. 8, Department of Virginia, United Spanish War Veterans, to mark with respect the most important historical event which has occurred in this generation, and to add their tribute of respect to the officers, sailors and marines who lost their lives at their posts when the battleship Maine was destroyed; and

"Whereas, it is deemed appropriate that the anniversary of that event should be noted by all men who served in the War with Spain, and the succeeding military operations of the United States army, navy and marine corps;

"Now, therefore, be it resolved that Fitzhugh Lee Camp does hereby express its heartfelt pride in the magnificent discipline, the firm, patriotic performances of duty, the unselfish disregard of the instinct of self-preservation, the love of duty and the splendid example of American manhood, which were manifested by the officers and men of the Maine when overtaken by the terrible catastrophe;

"That we recall this anniversary with the most tender feelings of solidarity and comradeship to the survivors of the men who manned our ship, and to those whose lives were sacrificed in the discharge of their duties, we extend the deep respect of the soldier to the honored and hallowed dead. Their memory is enshrined in the hearts of the men who follow, and is admired and respected by the true soldier and sailor of every nation and opinion;

"That we regret and deplore the neglect of our government in neglecting to raise and preserve the wreck of the Maine, and to honor the remains of those men whose bodies lie entwined with the reefs of their ship, and we urge upon our Senators and Representatives in Congress assembled that some provision be immediately made to amend this neglect;

"That we also desire to express our order and respect to our comrades of Havana, Cuba, for their action in commemorating this anniversary, and placing a wreath upon the wreck of the Maine at this time our hearty thanks, and to the commander-in-chief of our order, who has desired to express our appreciation for his presence at Havana today, and his participation in these ceremonies, which reflect the sentiments of the soldiers and sailors of this nation."

FOUNDERS' DAY CEREMONY

Three Hundred Friends and Helpers Present at Formal Exercises.

Services commemorating the twenty-second year of the founding of the institution were held at the Sheltering Arms Hospital yesterday noon, when the newly constructed wing, built at a cost of $20,000, was formally opened for the reception of patients. Founders' Day was more largely attended yesterday than ever before, and this fact, with the encouraging reports from officers, however the weather, the permit to use the drill room yesterday afternoon, and the welcome announcement was a signal for a large attendance last night.

Since being deprived of quarters the drills have been held in the streets, but these have been most unsatisfactory, and have served to lessen the enthusiasm of the men. When Company F met last night, however, three new recruits were enlisted, and the old men were urged to put forth a fresh effort in building up the company. Since its temporary abandonment the interior of the drill room has been repaired, and has much the appearance of a brand-new building.

Company B will drill to-night and to-morrow night. Company A, Richmond Grays, will have the several companies for informal entertainments. The roster of the battalion is above the requirements, and the attendance has been satisfactory.

Captain Herbert, of the Richmond Grays, last night announced that the present site of the old Federal building, and a portion of the lot on which the Shaffer building now stands.

Not Intention of Chamber or City to Ask Government to Build Wharves.

Discussing the recent action of the Chamber of Commerce in reference to the improvement of James River, President Henry W. Wood, of the chamber, yesterday gave out the following interview concerning the proposed work and legislation:

"The Federal government has already adopted a plan for the improvement of the channel of James River by deepening it to twenty-two feet at mean low tide from Richmond to the sea. The estimated cost for this improvement is a little over $5,000,000. Work was begun on the river by the general government forty years ago, and the total expenditure up to June 30, 1909, was something over $2,500,000.

"The rivers and harbors bill that has just been reported to Congress carries a total appropriation of about $40,000,000, and yet the amount given in this bill for the improvement of James River is only $100,000. At this rate of prosecuting the work it is clear from the above stated facts that it will require about a quarter of a century to complete this project that the government has already approved years ago. The meeting yesterday, held by the chamber, was for the purpose of trying to get this amount increased, so as to have the work prosecuted more rapidly.

Must Relieve Importers. "The pressing reason for this is to relieve our Richmond importers and exporters, and also many of our shippers in the coastwise trade, from the necessity of having to pay freight at rail rates from Newport News or Norfolk to this city on cargoes that could and would come to Richmond if we had twenty-two feet of water in the river. One gentleman, who spoke last evening stated that at this time, and for some months past, he has been receiving freight from ships at Newport News because he could not get them up the river. This expense is recouped by the different ports of the city. As long as this state of affairs continues, of course Newport News and Norfolk get the credit of the business done by Richmond houses, and these shippers are not only thus forced to bear an excessive and unnecessary tax, as indicated, but the result of this is figured against Richmond and in favor of the other two ports before the Federal authorities in submitting the volume of tonnage and customs receipts at the different ports. This is an entirely unjust and, in our view, are not only deprived of our rights, but we are made to suffer again because of the conditions that took them from us."

It is not the intention of the shippers of the city to ask the government anything for wharves or other improvements to the immediate harbor. The city is expected to furnish this money. Mr. Wood stated that he has been assured by engineers that it would be entirely practicable, at no excessive cost, to so deepen and straighten the river as to admit the largest vessels that cross the Atlantic into this port. At present, however, it is being insisted only that the channel be deepened to twenty-two feet.

State Debt Commission Retains His Services in West Virginia Case.

At a meeting of the Virginia Debt Commission held at the Jefferson Hotel yesterday noon, former Attorney-General William A. Anderson was retained as associate counsel for Virginia in the pending litigation with West Virginia.

The action was unanimous, and was by the advice and with the approval of Attorney-General Samuel W. Williams. After a full discussion of the points involved, the appointment of Major Anderson as associate counsel by the commission and the Attorney-General of this State was held to be within the limits of the powers and duties conferred upon the commission by the act of the General Assembly of Virginia by which the Debt Commission was created, and under which the suit against West Virginia was brought and is now being prosecuted.

After transacting business of a routine character the commission adjourned. It is understood that the action of the commission will render unnecessary the passage of the bill for the employment of special counsel for litigation, which has passed the Senate, and is now pending in the House of Delegates. The commission took the ground that since the employment of powers, the action taken was preferable to that proposed in the pending bill. The following are the members of the commission, all of whom were present: John B. Meen, of Albemarle, chairman; Henry T. Wickham, of Hanover; Judge William F. Rhoads, of Bristol; Randolph Harrison, of Lynchburg; H. D. Flood, of Appomattox; Henry Downing, of Warren, and Judge J. Thompson Brown, of Nelson.

Major Anderson Traveled Here Made Associate With Negro Man

Lelia Todd Is Arrested by Police-Man Immediately on Arrival in Richmond.

Having traveled in company with each other from their home in South Carolina, Nathaniel Bufkin, colored, and Lelia Todd, white, were arrested here yesterday and each was locked up. The negro was placed in the City Jail and the woman was lodged in the First Police Station.

The man and woman arrived here on a Southern Railway train at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. The woman was a passenger in the Jim Crow car, sitting through the car, noticed her wrists, for her face was covered with a heavy veil, and immediately became suspicious. On arriving in Richmond he reported the couple, and Policeman Crump took them in charge. They were taken to police headquarters.

A telegram was sent to their home at Kingstree, but the reply stated that they were not wanted. They will be brought before Police Court this morning, and it is probable that they will be ordered to leave the city. This woman is twenty-three years old.
